Harry Lee Waterfield, Clinton publisher and Democratic nominee for Lieutenant Governor was in Fulton Monday. He met with leaders of the Democratic party in Fulton to discuss plans for the November election when Republican Ed Denney meets Happy Chandler in a spirited contest for the Governor's office.

Harry Lee, of course needed no introduction to the political leaders who met with him in the Democratic headquarters in the Cohn Building. As a matter of fact the meeting was a very formal one and the accent was on getting out the vote in November. Harry Lee told the group that there is little fear of victory if a large turnout goes to the polls on Election Day, November 8.

Harry Lee brought his friends up-to-date on the progress of his own campaign and expressed his appreciation for the fine support that has been given to him, not only in his race for Lieutenant Governor, but in other races in which he was a candidate. The candidate made it clear that when and if he is elected to the second highest office in Kentucky, he will never lose sight of the fact that he is a West Kentucky citizen, and an avid enthusiast for progress in the First District.

Harry Lee, you know, received the largest majority of votes of any candidate in the recent primary. He said that he hoped that those friends who supported him in the primary will support the Democratic ticket in November. He cited the difficulties that might arise when a predominantly Democratic legislature attempts to work with a Republican Governor.

If Harry Lee is elected lieutenant Governor, and there seems to be no doubt that he will, he finds himself in an enviable position to become a candidate for Governor four years hence. That's a long time, four years, as things political go, but assuming that things go well with him, and he is elected governor, he will be the first such official the First District has ever had. Harry Lee has pledged himself to carry out every promise and every commitment that he has made to give the State of Kentucky a sound and economical administration.

He said that the minimum foundation for schools will be financed, that the State Park system is in no danger of being made a political football, that the highway system of this state will get the attention it needs.

Smith Atkins, Willie Foster, and others also spoke at the get-together and it was the consensus of all concerned that the First District would have much to gain by having one of its residents in the second highest spot in State Government and that it is most important that local Democratic voters get out a big vote in November.

Santa Claus, Reindeers And Rudolph Plan Yuletide Visit

For the first time in several years the kiddies of Fulton will get an opportunity to see dear old Santa Claus in person. Under the joint sponsorship of the American Legion's 40 and 8 organization and local merchants a huge Christmas parade will be staged here on Dec. 16.

St. Nick, his sleigh and all the reindeers will prance down Lake Street and even Rudolph, the red-nosed Reindeer will be along.

More details of the parade will be announced later, but Santa Claus has surely made big plans to visit here on Dec. 16.

SENATOR BARKLEY, WATERFIELD PLAN FULTON SPEECHES

Election Eve Motorcade Will Tour District

Joe Leary, Democratic campaign chairman in Louisville, advised the News on Wednesday that Sen. Alben W. Barkley and Harry Lee Waterfield will make a two-day election eve tour of the First District. Sen. Barkley left Louisville on Wednesday for a speaking tour of eastern Kentucky and will be busy until election day making speeches in the interest of the Democratic nominees for state office. Mr. Waterfield, Clinton publisher, is Democratic nominee for Lieutenant Governor.

Mr. Leary said that final arrangements had not been made for the first district tour, but that Mr. Barkley will make every third speech. Other Democratic leaders are expected to make speeches in the huge motorcade that will visit every community in the First District in the final days of the campaign. Mr. Barkley will make the speech in Fulton. Details for the speaking will be announced later.

The campaign chairman said that the Democratic nominee for Governor, A. B. (Happy) Chandler, will visit in the First District before election day, but it is not known at this date whether his campaign schedule will permit him to be a member of the First District motorcade.

CLINTON THEATRE GROUP PRESENTS DRAMA PROGRAM

Scenes From Play "Night Must Fall" Expertly Reviewed

Setting a pattern for many interesting programs to follow, the Drama Department of the Women's Club presented the Little Theatre group of Clinton Tuesday night. Mrs. C. H. McDaniel was program chairman and was commended for procuring such an outstanding group to open the year's work.

Following a delicious pot luck dinner Mrs. Bertie Pigue, department chairman, welcomed the members and guests and following a short business meeting introduced Mrs. McDaniel who in turn presented the quintet of players from Clinton.

Introductory remarks about the activities of the Little Theatre group were made by Bill Craddock, a former Fulton newspaperman, who also gave a few highlights from the play "Night Must Fall." Tuesday night's presentation was three forceful scenes from the play, which will be presented in Winston on November 18. Magnificent performances were given by the players and the "teaser" scenes were assurance that many local theatre patrons will attend the play in Winston.

Appearing in the scenes were Mrs. Warren Thompson, Mrs. J. M. Blair, Mrs. John Miller, Mrs. J. C. Bridges and Mr. Craddock. Mrs. McDaniel presented her guests with gifts as mementoes.

GIVE TO YOUR BOY SCOUTS KICKOFF OCTOBER 25

Workman Proves His Name As Highest Honor Is Presented

J. T. Workman, Jr., a member of the Central chapter of the Future Farmers of America was in Kansas City, Mo. last week attending the National FFA convention. And he was there to receive the highest honor the organization can bestow—the American Farmer degree.

Workman, along with Eugene Armstrong of the Murray State College Training School, joins a select group of only three others from this area ever to receive the degree.

For both young men this year climaxes their seventh and last in the FFA.

The organization provides for four years of membership while a boy is in school and for three years following graduation.

To receive a nomination for the American Farmer Degree a boy has to put forth an outstanding farm program. Even then only one out of each 1,000 FFA members in the state may receive the degree.

Others from this area to be so honored were Winifred Gues of Heath in 1941, Dan Shipley of Murray Training in 1951 and Carl McNeill of Symsonia last year.

As to what Workman has done to earn the right to join the elite of the agricultural world, year-by-year records kept by him is the best index.

J. T. Workman Jr. lives in the Hailwell community of Hickman county. J. T. is 21 years old and is married to the former Martha Burcham, member of a farm family from the same community.

Martha is a lab technician at the Clinton-Hickman County Hospital and the young couple are pooling their income to become better established in farming. She will attend the convention with her husband.

Both Workman and Armstrong will receive $75 from the National Foundation along with their degrees. Other than that they receive no convention expenses.

Workman's farm program since he began work in the FFA is as follows: 1948—17 acres of corn with a labor income of $602.94.

1949—10 acres of corn and an income of $717.70.

"Be Prepared" For Giving When Scout Drive Starts Here

The accent will be on Scouting next week and the emphasis will be on your generosity as the Boy Scout Fund Drive "kicks off" at Smith's Cafe next Tuesday at eight o'clock. Scout workers will meet at the Rose Room to enjoy a delicious breakfast with the compliments of Howard and Lucille Adams, owners of Smith's Cafe.

Headed by James Warren, Fulton County Drive chairman the workers will meet to make final arrangements for the solicitation of $3200 as this year's quota to maintain Boy Scout activities here.

Assisting Mr. Warren in the drive as chairmen are Felix Gossam, vice-chairman for Fulton, Ro Gardner, vice-chairman for Hickman and John B. Stayton, vice-chairman for Cayce.

Cubmaster Nelson-Tripp will enlist the services of the Cub Scouts and the Webelos to distribute colorful placards and stickers all over town to make next week the most Scout-conscious week in recent years.

Over 3200 Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts and Explorers are participating in the Boy Scout program in the various communities of the ten county area. Over 1100 volunteer leaders make the program possible. The Boy Scout office for this area is located in Paducah. Funds raised in the statewide finance campaign are all administered from this office through a central treasury, however, the funds are spent for Boy Scouting over the entire area in the form of Camping facilities, Training opportunities for leaders, Field and Extension Service, and District and Council Activities as well as program information. The Council employs 5 professional Scouters to serve the volunteers and two women in the office to maintain records and coordinate Scouting activities. 732 Boy Scouts, Explorers attended the Four Rivers Council Camps last summer.

Local persons who will assist in the drive are as follows: Joe Hall, Ernest Fall, Robert Burrow, Robert Binford, J. R. Hogan, Charles Andrews, Charles Gregory, Orin Winstead, F. E. Neely, Mac Burrow, C. H. McDaniel, Charles Reams, Carter Olive, Bud Davis.

Annual Day Finds Milady With Her Work Done

It was Annual Day for the Homemakers of Fulton County Tuesday at the Cayce Methodist Church. For the twenty-sixth year the ladies of this county gathered to review the year's work and to match ideas for the coming year.

Dressed in lovely fashions of Fall many of them made by the Homemakers themselves, the four H's were well represented. Not the young folks' four H's, but almost. They are the Happiest, Healthiest, Handsomest, Hard-workingest group of ladies around here and they're living up to every adjective.

With each year, they celebrated their silver anniversary last year. The ladies report more and more activities and more and more accomplishments. And with every passing year the ladies dream up more clever ways to report their activities. The morning lesson on Tuesday was devoted to viewing a skit, magnificently done, in which was depicted the accomplishments of the various departments during the year past.

Each of the various leaders participated in the clever presentation and it was thoroughly enjoyed by those ladies who take a dim view of the stereotyped manner of presenting an annual report.

At the meeting more than 125 ladies were present from the twelve Homemaker groups of the county. One amazing statistic presented in the skit was that the 353 members of the clubs in this county helped 2333 non-members in passing along to them the many phases of home-making participated in by the Homemaker groups.

Following registration at ten o'clock in the morning, Mrs. Reinald Williamson, county president, called the meeting to order. Group singing was participated in and led by Mrs. Henry Welber after which Mrs. Ernest Jenkins gave the devotion. The treasurer's report was presented and Mrs. Cecil Burnette and Mrs. Jessie McNeill led the group in singing.

Mrs. Bertha McLeod, whose efficient leadership is manifest in every successful home-making meeting spoke to the group on her favorite subject, home-making.

Honored guest at the meeting was Mrs. H. H. Brady, District Director of the Homemakers, from Mayfield.

1/2 MILLION ACRES IN CUMBERLAND FOREST TO BE PREPARED FOR HUNTING, FISHING

Charles L. Teebe of Philadelphia, Regional Forester for the eastern region of the United States Forest Service, arrived in Frankfort last week to sign a cooperative agreement with Commissioner Earl Wallace of the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources. Under this agreement one-half million acres in the Cumberland National Forest will be jointly developed by the State and Federal governments as a public hunting and fishing area. Mr. Teebe was accompanied by Forest Supervisor Robert Collins of Winchester; Everett Doman of Washington, D. C., Assistant Chief of the Forest Service Division of Wildlife Management; and T. C. Fearnow, Chief of the Eastern Region, Wildlife Management Section.

Mr. Teebe, who heads up administrative work for the Forest Service in 14 northeastern states from Maine to Kentucky, spoke with enthusiasm of progress already made in restoring wildlife populations in the Cumberland Forest Area of Eastern Kentucky. Particular credit in this matter is due District Wildlife Biologist Fred Hardy and Ranger Hal Bush of Somerset for their joint efforts in behalf of wildlife restoration and protection, Mr. Teebe said. He pointed out that the Beaver Creek Area, established as a pilot plant operation in 1954 has brought back deer, wild turkey and other game, thus demonstrating to both the state and Forest Service the benefits attainable under joint programs.

The Forest Service is engaged in multiple use management, Mr. Teebe said. Timber, water, wildlife and recreation are related segments of land management and it is our job to coordinate these uses to provide maximum public benefits. Active assistance by the Department of Wildlife Resources in Kentucky has been important in making possible advancements in the field of wildlife management.

Mr. Teebe arrived in Kentucky earlier this week to meet with a group of forestry officials considering plans for marketing increased amounts of low grade hardwood timber available in National Forest areas of the State. Through accelerated harvesting of this material the Forest hopes to improve employment opportunities for local people and at the same time carry out thinning and weeding operations in extensive areas of second growth hardwood to provide high quality growing stock for future markets.

Tests over a period of 25 years on the Campbellsville Experiment Field of the University of Kentucky have proved the value of phosphating pastures. Each plot had a corn, wheat, clover and grass hay rotation. The plot treated with manure, limestone and rock phosphate produced an average annual yield of 4,332 pounds of hay as against 1,796 pounds on the check plot which received manure only.

Get results like this with one, low-cost application of Four Leaf Powdered Rock Phosphate. Powdered Fine Four Leaf works down to root areas quicker, produces immediate and lasting results. It's ideal for permanent pastures; producing lush stands of high-protein forage that cut meat and milk production costs. And when your phosphated pasture is part of a rotation, you have a bigger green manure crop to be plowed under, thus improving soil fertility, tilth and drainage. Call your dealer today!

Here's a farm pond that provides both recreation and fire protection.

Utah Farm Has Novel Pond

Looks Like Resort Swimming Pool, But It Protects Against Fire Too

By IRA MILLER
Farm Electrification Bureau

Farm business is growing into big business. And, as agriculture grows so does its manpower problems. The stock phrase—"down on the farm" is assuming new significance in many cases, because it often means just that: "down" and not "up" on the farm.

Thus, employee relations—the job of keeping employees happy and proud that they are farm workers—becomes more and more important. And, that goes for farm youngsters as well. City jobs appeal strongest to those who do not feel that agriculture is an industry in which they would like to spend a life time.

Even a simple—and practical—thing like a pond can be turned to good account in a farmer's battle for efficient workmen and "stay-at-home" boys and girls. A Utah farm family discovered this fact when they converted a typical pond into a swimming pool—country club style.

Complete with bath house, spring board, striped umbrellas and picnic tables, the pool looks for all the world like the center of an expensive resort. Then, the visitor spots a big dairy barn in the background and comes back to earth—the good earth of a "big business" farm. Employees use the pool whenever convenient, and so do the neighbors, and family.

The pool, of course, offers more than recreation. It is the farm's ever-ready reservoir if fire should strike. Ponds also have other uses, not the least of which is supplying water for irrigation systems. The use and use made of them depends on a farmer's ideas and ingenuity. They may be large or small, elaborate or not, as desired. But they can be more than just a hole in the ground for water with a little advance planning.

Sheepmen Take Care of Your Flock

Now is the time to take stock of your breeding flock if you haven't done so already. It is a good time to make sure that all your ewes are bred if not by the ram is with your flock. February and March are the best months for the lambs to get here. Some sheepmen have early breeders and have late December and January lambs and get the advantage of the Easter market, which is about $5 higher than the regular price. Lambs dropped early have less trouble with internal parasites. This means money to the sheepman.

There are still replacements available in the west. Ewe lambs weighing from 65 pounds are selling mostly at 82½ cents F. O. B. loading point. This makes a replacement cost the farmer about $15 on his farm. Several cars of late lambs have been ordered this fall in my territory and the supply is still

Diary of Doin's

—Around Fulton—

The News writes social happenings about you and your friends.

There's many a proud Eagle who had an early training as a Cub and a very gracious and wonderful lady performed this "miracle" of humanity. We're talking about Scouting, where a little fellow cuts his baby-teeth in Cub Scouting and works for many long years to become an Eagle Scout.

The road to reach the pinnacle of Scouting... when it starts out from the cuddly Cubbing state... is a hard and detailed one and it takes great love and great care on the part of a lot of efficient grown folks. Sara Johnson (Mrs. Ward) is one of those adults who gave many years to that great work and it is with sadness that we report her resignation from the Cub Pack Committee of Fulton.

For eight years Sara's name has been synonymous with Cub Scout work in Fulton. She has held the title as assistant Cubmaster in Fulton, a non-existent title for a female in Cub Scout work, but she deserved to have some kind of a title and the Cub Scout leaders were most anxious that she should have one. Not that she wanted one or asked for one.

A couple of weeks ago Sara resigned. She felt, she said, that she had served her time in this worthwhile work and it was time for someone else to take over the reins. Efficient, diligent Helen (Mrs. Dean) Harwood will take over Sara's duties as right-hand man to Cubmaster Nelson Tripp.

Sara's activities in Cub Scout work always intrigued us. In organizing new dens, in organizing a Minstrel, a Carnival, a that hasn't diminished his love and time marches on in this world we live in.

Ethel McDaniel deserves a great deal of credit for arranging such a wonderful meeting for the Drama Department program. The three scenes... group were masterfully done and it was a real treat for the members and visitors to view sketches from the celebrated play "Night Must Fall." Talking to the members of the cast after the play we learned a new wrinkle about baby-sitting. Betty Thompson (Warren's better half) said she dreamed up the idea of encouraging parents to bring the kiddies to the play when it was presented last November in Clinton. The youngsters were charged twenty-five cents admission, but they saw something there that was a darned sight more interesting to them than the play. The kiddies were taken upstairs in the Fulton and shown cartoon films while the parents enjoyed the play. Some economical baby-sitting, we'll say.

There was something behind the scenes in that mass-baby-sitting gimmick and we get it first hand. The fellow who showed the films to that assemblage of jet-propelled ??? says "Never again!"

Jet-propulsion reminds us that a local boy made some kind of history this week when he was a passenger on the jet Strato-liner plane which made its maiden voyage across the United States in three hours and fifty-eight minutes. Hugh Mac Clellan, a representative of Libby, Owens and Ford Glass Company was a passenger on the plane and was on a business trip for his company to Seattle, Wash. We could only get a few details of the voyage but undoubtedly Hugh Mac's interest in the plane was a great one. He was also a passenger on the first train that featured the scenic-view, all-glass platform and right off hand we'd say that

A good football game is a good football game, no matter where the game is played or what teams are doing the playing. Last week several Fultonians proved this by motoring to Paducah where they enjoyed seeing the Tighman High School of Paducah battle it out with Male High of Louisville. Creating more interest for the travelling football enthusiasts was the fact that Joe Dew, a former Fulton boy was playing on the Tighman High team, and what's more doing a right creditable job of same. The local folks cheered Joe to some fine playing and surely Joe was appreciative of that interest. At the game from Fulton were among others: Charlie Thomas, C. V. Jones, Billy and Bill Holland, Jean and Bill Fenwick, Patti and Billy Joe Forest, Betty Jo Campbell who watched John Joe officiate, Nell Holland, Bobby Bennett, Joe Dallas, David Holland, and nearly all of the Fulton Bulldog squad.

Undoubtedly there were many more Fultonians there, but our "scout" just spotted the ones mentioned above.

Heard at the Drama Department meeting Tuesday night... a short, short drama with two young grandmothers the cast of characters. Pearl Lee Hogan: "Ramelle, I don't see how you do it. You look exactly as you did fifteen years ago when you were president of the Drama Department."

Ramelle Pigue: "That's funny, Pearl. Somebody just asked me who that attractive looking woman was... and they were talking about you."

Ramelle is again serving as the efficient and gracious chairman of the Drama Department.

Remember last week in Notebook we told you that we had a couple of good feature stories on our desk that needed tending to. Well the Sara Johnson story was one of them and our delay in writing it caused us to get scooped. Well, this is one time we didn't mind the scoop, because what Sara Johnson has done for Scouting is big news anytime.

The exodus will be to Nashville on Nov. 5 when the University of Kentucky plays Vanderbilt there. There are so many people holding tickets and planning trips to the game that we'd consider it a waste of time to try to publish a complete list. Maybe we'll have a scout around to report them for us, but until then, just ask the fellow next to you and he surely will be one of the people going.

The members of the Country Club from Clinton have some big plans in store for a dance to be held at the Club on Nov. 10. All we know right now is that the Melody Men of Fulton and environs will furnish the music for the event. Put the dance on your "must" list if you're a member of the Country Club.

Wonder how our good friend Ruby McDade is fairing these days in her new role of grandmother. Ruby has been at Fort Knox with Ann McDade Hunt for several weeks now and was right on the spot when lovely Ann Conley made her debut into the Herbie Hunt household. Can't wait for Ruby to pay a "visit" home so we can get first hand all the news about the new arrival.

COMINGS AND GOINGS. Pearl Lee and Happy Hogan were visitors in Memphis the past week-end to visit with newlyweds Jimmy and Phyllis Hogan. Pearl, with daughter Betty Lou Thomas will go to Huntington Saturday to attend a tea in honor of the bride. Robert and Nell Graham have returned after a nice visit in Louisville with their daughter, Mrs. R. L. Hitchcock and family. Carmen and Larry Depp left Tuesday for Wright - Patterson Field in Dayton, Ohio where Lt. Depp will complete the last lap of his tour of duty for Uncle Sam. He hopes to bid the Armed Services farewell come this week. Godfrey Binford is home following his discharge from the Navy and marking time for a big event: to take place in his life when he and Peggy Adams will walk down the aisle in the not too distant future. MRS. ROBERT ADAMS HOSTESS TO THE RUSH CREEK CLUB

Mrs. Robert Adams was hostess to the Rush Creek Home-makers for their Oct. 13 meeting. Thirteen members attended the meeting including the co-hostess Mrs. Ray Adams. The meeting began at 10:30.

The major project lesson was a very interesting discussion of "What Every Homemaker Should Know About Kentucky Law." The lesson was given by Mrs. Albert Moss and Mrs. Robert Adams and contained valuable information about taking care of the family's business affairs, making of wills and disposing of property.

The new publicity goals were given by the club publicity chairman, Mrs. John Watts. These goals include the writing of a feature article about each club activity. The Rush Creek Club is to be featured in December.

Mrs. Bertha McLeod, home demonstration agent gave suggestions for citizenship work. During the recreation period Mrs. Louis Atwell led the members in singing songs and playing games.

Consider It A Privilege To Pass Tax Levy That Would Create Health Department Funds

Taxation, generally, is a very distasteful word with a lot of folks. Often times it is as a go-ahead sign to close one's mind about the real issue at hand and instinctively creates opposition to any issue that demands taxation for its existence.

For several weeks now the public has known that a tax levy of twelve and one-centa to operate the health center in this county will be voted upon in the November election. We would very much like to talk to you a little about that tax levy and to tell you that it should be the most welcome tax levy ever proposed to the voters of this county.

For years the health department of Fulton County has operated on a more or less hand-to-mouth existence. Funds have been solicited from seven public agencies in this county with which to operate the department. Never, since we have been in Fulton have we ever been informed that the agencies involved have over-subscribed the fund. As a matter of fact, some years, the fund has been so under-subscribed that funds from private agencies have been sought to continue a meager operation of the department.

In several instances the health department personnel has had to get out and "beg" in order to meet the payrolls and maintain only necessary functions of the department. We all know that certainly is no way to operate an agency as vital to the health and welfare of our community as the health department.

This year we have been told that three of the agencies that have previously subscribed to the health department fund have withdrawn their assistance and a fourth one possibly may withdraw. Where, please tell us, does that leave the health department? We'll tell you. . . . it leaves it in a hopelessly destitute predicament, with the possibility that even the barest functions of the department face curtailment. Possibility of that situation should bring shame to every civic-minded individual in all of Fulton County.

But let's look at the other possibility. The Fulton County Fiscal Court has approved a tax levy to be voted upon by the citizens of this county on the ballot in November. That tax levy is so small, when the benefits to be derived are considered, that we think it almost unnecessary to prevail upon you for its passage at the polls. A property-owner with a valued assessment of $3000 would have to pay $3.75 for the maintenance of a full-fledged health department, with qualified health nurses, a sanitation officer and a full time public health doctor. As it is now we have only a part-time health doctor who visits Fulton only once a week.

His time is so limited that surely you can see that he cannot, under proper circumstances, give the department the benefit of the services needed. And we know that he does the best he can, and that's an awful lot, believe us.

Citizens in Fulton County dug deep in their pockets to match State and Federal funds with which to build a beautiful and modern Health Center, which will be opened in the not too distant future. Wouldn't it be a very sad state of affairs if we permitted the wonderful facilities of that new center to go unused because the vision of some tax-opponents was so short?

We have told you many times of the many, many worthwhile functions of the health department. Because health conditions in this county are so good the average citizen may take all those services for granted and take the view that they've done so well with so little, why spoil them and make more funds available.

Take it from us. . . . the extraordinary efforts put forth by those hard-working conscientious people can't go on forever. They have dedicated their lives to protecting the public health of this community, but even the best of us get weary and find futility in the most worthwhile endeavors.

Let's not ride a good horse to death. Let's dispense with the imposition of financial worries with which we have burdened the health department. Let's pass upon the tax levy in November if for nothing else as a token of appreciation to those great people who have worked so hard and so long with a financial yoke on their backs.

There has not been one incident of polio reported in Fulton County this year. This statistic did not come by accident. It came about as a result of constant work on the part of the health department personnel.

Show them your appreciation. Vote them the funds they need to operate. The returns are so great for so little.

Sermonette Of The Week

Communism Is False Religion

By J. Edgar Hoover, Director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation

I CAN'T UNDERSTAND how anyone could confuse Communism with Christianity. Karl Marx coined the phrase, "Religion is the opium of the people." He also wrote, "Communism abolishes eternal truths; it abolishes all religion and all morality, instead of constituting them on a new basis."

But some Americans have been fooled into thinking that Communism is just another form of Christianity. Non-Communist writers who should know better often parrot the Red line that Communism and the teaching of Christ have much in common. Some years ago in one of our leading magazines a writer said, "Pure Communism, indeed, might be a Christ-like doctrine were it not for its political implications." This man couldn't have known much of the real aims and doctrines of Communism.

AT A COMMUNIST meeting recently a speaker gave the true Communist position on religion. "No true Marxist can believe in any religion," he said. "The Church is the enemy of the working class and must be shown for what it is - an enemy of the people." In this he did not differentiate Jew or Gentile, Catholic or Protestant, it makes no difference. The Communists are dedicated to destroy belief in God.

The real menace of Communism is that it becomes a religion in itself - a religion utterly opposed to Christianity. It has no place for man's soul, for God, for heaven or hell.

is more than that of differing political systems. The struggle is essentially religious. Communism attacks all forms of religion that base themselves on belief in God.

Part of the Communist plan is confusion. They hope to divide our people and stir up strife between Catholic and Protestant.

ANOTHER TACTIC is deception. Time and again they inject their slogans and propaganda into religious groups on the themes of "peace," "democracy," "aid to the poor," and "civil liberties." They will even use things like the Sermon on the Mount and the Christmas story to further their own aims.

Religious people must realize that Communism is their great enemy. The zeal of the early Christians overcame paganism in Rome and civilized the savage gods of the northern barbarians. That same zeal could convert godless Communists. It is up to American Christians to recapture that indomitable spirit and to free the world from this menace.

STRICTLY BUSINESS

Kentucky Windage

By P. W.

Have you ever wondered?

A nationally - advertised cigarette seems to put quite a lot of stock in a claim that it's better because "it travels the smoke further" with its greater length.

We don't get it. After the first couple of puffs, a Pall Mall is not a darned bit longer than a Camel. If you'll wait till that point to light up, you're on an even footing the rest of the way, with your Pell - Mell friend.

Another amazing statement, noticed this week:

An ad for Vaseline cream hair tonic, directed to men and showing how nicely this cream grooms the hair, winds up in big type saying "SCREAM FOR VASELINE CREAM."

I have my doubts that you could get that slogan to working even if you gave the stuff away.

Judge: "You are charged with running your car 80 miles an hour, smashing a telephone pole, breaking a plate glass window and injuring four people."

Sweet Young Thing: "Doesn't the $10 I pay for my license plates entitle me to any privileges?"

The above reminds us of a little story that a visiting college professor - President recently told the Fulton Rotary Club.

A nice looking young lady, in a hurry to get somewhere, was exceeding the speed limit on the highway. When she glanced into the rear-view mirror, she was alarmed to see a State Police car rapidly pulling up behind. She pressed down on the accelerator and the distance widened.

The police car called up ahead for reinforcements but the lady breezed through a glaring blockade and two more cars took up the chase. All three called ahead for help, as she frantically searched for some way out of her predicament.

As she entered the outskirts of a town she noted a blockade of autos across the road, with police out in front of it, and a service station just ahead on the right.

Applying the brakes, she pulled in at the service station, rushed from the car and into the ladies' room.

Five minutes later she emerged, smiled sweetly to the circle of grim-faced cops and announced:

"I barely made it"

Now of course we make jokes of things like these, but actually, excessive speeding on the highway is usually not a joking matter. Nothing arouses our ire any quicker than seeing a fool driver, car out of control, hot-rodding down the highway carrying little whose life he is endangering. Somehow you don't give a darn about his, but that car containing mother, father and children over the next hill might be you.

Fulton certainly gets its share of traveling fortune - tellers, or palm readers, or whatever one may want to call them.

We note a circular of the latest, "Madam Lulu" describes herself as "one of the seven sisters born with a double veil."

That ought to wind up the crop. The other six have been here, too.

Of course we're probably wrong and all that, but these east coast hurricanes and torrential downpours look positively subversive.

Why, it hasn't been any time at all ago since we never heard of the things. . . and now they come about one a month.

Could it be possible, in this day of science beyond imagination, that an enemy has figured out a way to develop hurricanes and "aim" them at our all-important east coast area? Figuring that a constant battering for a year or so will eventually come up with a haymaker that will hammer it all to pieces? Could this thing go on for years with people blaming no one but the heavens? Could it be possible that three of the known enemy methods of attack (chemical, biological, radiological) have added a fourth - "water and wind warfare"?

Makes a good speculative story, doesn't it. Someone ought to write a book on the theme, and probably will.

FROM THE FILES:

TURNING BACK THE CLOCK

November 28, 1930

Fulton was thrown into near panic Wednesday morning when it became generally known that the Farmers Bank and the First National Bank failed to open for business. Notices posted on the doors of both banks stated that "due to unsettled conditions in banking circles the directors had ordered a temporary suspension of business for the protection of depositors."

President, R. H. Wade of the First National Bank and Arch Huddleston of the Farmers Bank, both have stated that their institutions are solvent and the temporary closing was a matter of precaution to prevent depletion of cash reserve.

The general belief is that both banks will soon open again and may merge into one institution.

The City National Bank opened its doors the same as usual Wednesday morning with plenty of cash in sight to meet every demand and then some. If a run on the bank was expected it failed to materialize.

It would be very unwise for depositors to lose their heads and make a run on this bank. If there is a stronger bank in this end of the state we fail to know about it.

Funeral services were held today, November 28, for Mr. Markham, Chairman of the Board of the Illinois Central System in the Holy Name Cathedral at Chicago.

Fulton youths formed the Club Pendenis this week. It held its first meeting Tuesday with 18 charter members present. The following officers were elected: President, Hendon W.

Wright; Secretary, Billie McWhorter; Treasurer, Wilburn Holloway.

LETTERS TO EDITORS

Editors, The News:

Gee, it seems a long time since I've been home and I was only there in June. Maybe I will be able to take another trip up that way before too long although I doubt very much if I get there this year.

Surely do look forward to the paper every Monday and want you to know that I haven't missed an issue since I subscribed almost a year ago. I must admit, however, that I get a little homesick every week after reading it, especially if someone married or died or if some of my friends had a baby, but I wouldn't miss The News for anything in the world. Miss June Coplen 636 South Drive Miami Springs, Fla.

Mad As Heck!

Arriving home and finding myself locked out, he settled on the steps to wait for his wife's return. Considerable time passed and a neighbor, seeing his plight, invited him to dinner. The locked-out one politely refused. "If I get comfortable and fed," he explained, "I'll get all smoothed down - and I want to be good and mad when she gets here."

Spiritual demands on man for growth and progress will be brought out in the Lesson - Sermon entitled "Probation After Death" at Christian Science services Sunday.

Christ Jesus' emphasis on regeneration will be set forth in readings from the Bible including the following from John 3:3: Jesus answered and said unto him, verily, verily, I say unto thee, Except a man be born again, he cannot see the kingdom of God."

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy the following passage will be among those read (291:12-13): "Universal salvation rests on progression and probation, and is unattainable without them."

The Golden Text is from John (5:21): "As the Father raiseth up the dead, and quickeneth them; even so the Son quickeneth whom he will."

Speaking of Unions

WOODFORD
COUNTY

When Henry Clay's widowed mother remarried, she and her husband opened and operated the first tavern in Woodford County, Watkin's Inn. The youthful Clay came often to see his mother, journeying from Richmond, Va., to Versailles. On one of these trips Henry Clay decided to settle in Kentucky.

Located in the heart of the Bluegrass, Woodford County today is famous for its tobacco and its livestock - thoroughbred and saddle horses, prize cattle and sheep. It is the home of four distilleries and a factory there produces automotive and refrigerator parts.

Many citizens of Woodford County, past and present, have always enjoyed an occasional glass of beer - the beverage of moderation. The sale of beer under orderly conditions is an important objective of your brewing industry. Our continuing educational program helps beer retailers maintain their high standards.

STATELINE HOMEMAKERS SURPRISE MRS. WINSTON WITH BIRTHDAY GIFTS

The State Line Homemakers met in the home of Mrs. Maurine Coffman on Oct. 10, for an all-day meeting.

Each member answered roll call by naming a recent news item.

During the business session plans were made to serve lunch at Dukedom on election day, Nov. 8. Also the club planned to do quilting for people.

Lunch was served to nine members and three visitors, Mrs. Walter Henderson, Mrs. William Ward and Mrs. Elywin Coffman.

Mrs. Willie Cavender and Mrs. Doil Phillips gave the major lesson on "Planning a Basic Wardrobe." They explained how one can be well-dressed at all times on a limited income by careful planning.

Mrs. Ben Winston, as always, made a most interesting report on "Landscaping."

Everyone enjoyed the recreation conducted by Mrs. Willie Cavender.

Mrs. Ben Winston, whose birthday happened to be on the club meeting day, was much surprised when Sunshine gifts were opened and she found she had a little gift from each member present.

Late in the afternoon, Mrs. Coffman made pictures of the group.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. Doil Phillips.

This Is Life

To help earn my way through college, I worked as a lecturer on the sight-seeing buses that take in Boston's many historic sites. On one trip, as we rode around the base of Bunker Hill Monument, I described the battle and pointed out a stone marker where one of the heroes of the Revolution fell mortally wounded. A brisk little old lady passenger strained her neck, looking from the marker to the top of the monument and back again. "Well," she snapped, "that fall would kill anybody."

IT'S HOUSE-CLEANING TIME AND EXPERT LISTS SOME HELP FOR COMMON PROBLEMS

This is the season when house cleaning chores claim the attention of every housewife to some degree. Here are some suggestions from home economists at the University of Kentucky for meeting common problems:

White rings or marks caused by wet glasses, vases or plants should be treated early for easiest removal. Try any of the following: Dampen a cloth, apply a few drops of ammonia and rub spot; rub with a paste made of rottenstone and sewing machine oil; place a thick clean blotter over the spot and press with a warm, not hot, iron. Follow the treatment used with an application of wax and vigorous rubbing.

Brass, copper and pewter may be given a clean, dull finish by rubbing with a paste of rottenstone and linseed oil. For a bright finish, combine whiting with denatured alcohol to make a paste. Polish when dry.

Furniture with a varnished, shellacked, oiled or unwaxed surface may be washed with a mixture that both cleans and polishes: Combine 1 quart of boiling water, 1 tablespoon of turpentine and 3 tablespoons of linseed oil. Wring a soft cloth from the solution (kept hot in a double boiler) and wash a small area, then dry it thoroughly with a clean, soft cloth.

An effective paint cleaner can be made of equal parts of white vinegar, kerosene and warm water.

Small cuts, cracks or scratches in the surface of linoleum may be partly healed by occasionally rubbing with boiled linseed oil. Have the surface clean and dry before rubbing in the oil. Wipe off all excess oil on the surface, and allow to dry two days before washing the linoleum.

WETHERBY SAYS HE WILL SUPPORT HAPPY CHANDLER

Still Bitter.
But Plans To Give His Help

Kentucky's Governor Lawrence Wetherby made it clear today he still is bitter toward A. B. (Happy) Chandler but said he would support him in the governor's race.

Wetherby, who is serving out the final months of his term, also observed that odds are heavily in favor of the South voting solidly Democratic in 1956. And he picked Adlai Stevenson to win the presidency if President Eisenhower doesn't run again.

The Kentucky governor was interviewed as the chief executives from 16 states gathered here for the Southern Governors Conference, opening officially Tuesday.

Chandler, defeated the administration candidate backed by Wetherby, Senator Earle Clements, and Senator Alben Barkley.

But Wetherby said Chandler probably would win the governorship in next month's election even though the Kentucky Democratic party "still is split."

"A lot of men who battled for the party through the years, Wetherby said, 'are not going to fight for Happy — and they are precinct and county politicians.' However, he said he would support Chandler.

The governor went on to say that Kentucky's delegation to the Democratic National Convention (with 24 votes) will be for Stevenson "unless Happy cracks the whip."

But then he added Kentucky's governor historically controls the national convention delegation which always is instructed and votes as a unit.

"I don't think Chandler will be inclined to be for Stevenson," he said. "I know he will be for Happy—but after Happy, I don't know who he will be for."

Asked about the possibility of a Southern Democratic revolt such as those which split the party in 1948 and 1952, Wetherby said:

"All the sentiment I get in my talks with Southern leaders is that the South will be solidly Democratic without Eisenhower in the race. I don't find any sentiment strong enough to bring about a defection such as that in 1953 which cost the Democrats four Southern states (Texas, Tennessee, Florida and Virginia)."

Wetherby said Stevenson was the strongest potential Democratic candidate in Kentucky. Governor Averell Harriman of New York is second choice, well ahead of Tennessee's Senator Estes Kefauver, he said.

Dave Crockett Could Have Beat Happy. Beauchamp Says

Lieut. Gov. Emerson "Doc" Beauchamp told Happy Chandler at headquarters this week "There is one fellow we could have nominated and beat the out of you Dave Crockett."

Doc has about recovered from a recent operation and is now actively on the firing line, in headquarters and visiting his friends around the State, looking toward getting out a big vote for the entire Democratic ticket.

With Congressmen Noble Gregory, Harry Lee Waterfield and "Doc" visited in Fulton on Monday.

Fidelity finds its reward and its strength in exalted purpose.

—Mary Baker Eddy

Say I Saw It In the News

Governor Lawrence W. Wetherby discussed with Sidney Rosenblum, Louisville, plans for the 1955 Boy Scout Coordinated Campaign. Scouting leaders from all over Kentucky met in the Governor's office last week to plan the campaign which has as its goal the raising of $384,000 in cities not having community chests. Rosenblum is chairman of the drive.

BARKLEY SAYS "FAMILY FUSS IS OVER" AND URGES SUPPORT OF ALL DEMOCRATS

Senator Alben W. Barkley joined A. B. Chandler this week in an all-out drive for the election of the entire Democratic ticket.

Barkley and Chandler were on the same platform at Whitesburg Tuesday and at Pikeville Wednesday. A mammoth barbecue is planned by the Democrats at Prestonburg Thursday and Barkley will also appear with Chandler at Harlan Friday afternoon.

Barkley said: "We had a little family fuss, but that is all over." He pointed to Chandler's record as Governor and said "Any real progress Kentucky has achieved came under Democratic administrations."

Barkley is scheduled for further speeches, principally in his own First District, during the campaign.

In all the public appearances of Barkley and Chandler, the former vice-president is delivering the principal address.

Meanwhile Chandler told his audiences this week that a "vote for Denney gives encouragement to the farm policies of Secretary Benson."

Denney think alike. Denney's negative voting record in the House of Representatives in 1946, showed the same utter disregard for the interests of the people as have Benson's farm

ACP Committee

To Have Election

The Fulton County ASC Office Manager, Samuel E. Holly, announced today that the county office had received information that the State ASC Committee had set Tuesday, Nov. 29, 1955, as the date for which community committeemen and delegates to the county convention would be elected and that Wednesday, Nov. 30, 1955, the delegates would meet for the election of the county committeemen. The duly elected committee will take office and assume their duties and responsibilities Dec. 1, 1955.

The plans to be followed for the election of these officials have not arrived. Detailed instructions will be received in the very near future.

politics." "When I was in the United States Senate," Chandler continued, "I cast my vote for 90 percent of parity and I still believe 90 percent of parity is mandatory if we are to offer any relief to our rural people."

Chandler said the differential between the amount received by farmers for their products and their operation and living costs had dropped 32 percent.

Ed Denney, the Republican nominee for governor, has referred the voters of Kentucky to the House Journal of the 1946 Legislature to prove his charges of "misrepresentation" by his opponent, Democrat A. B. Chandler.

Chandler had claimed in his campaign opening speech at Bowling Green that Denney, who was House minority leader in 1946, had voted against everything that his colleagues were for — including the building of three tuberculosis hospitals and a $4,000,000 rural roads program.

The 51-year-old Denney said Chandler's claims were half-truths. Denney said he did vote against those bills and that they failed to pass.

However, the Republican said, I voted for five tuberculosis hospitals and for a $5,000,000 rural roads program, and both of those bills did pass."

Chandler said nothing of the bills that Denney voted for. The Democrat cited a long list of bills that were considered by the House and to each of these he chanted that "Denney voted 'No.'"

Denney reiterated a previous statement that he is not going to spend his campaign answering Chandler's "falsehoods" and that he will not let the Democratic nominee "keep me on the defensive."

"I'm not going to dissipate my time and energy," Denney said, "going up and down the state explaining the falsehoods, chicanery, deceit, misrepresentations and half-truths of my opponent."

Denney said, "If my opponent would look at page 1212 of the House Journal for Feb. 7, 1946, he would see where I voted for five tuberculosis hospitals and the money that completed them."

"He said I voted against a $4,000,000 rural roads program

But if he'll examine page 3172 of the House Journal he can see where I voted for a $5,000,000 rural roads program."

RECIPE OF WEEK

A recipe for gingerbread that has been generally praised for its lightness and flavor is this one from food specialists at the University of Kentucky. Keep the recipe handy, for it will be a popular dessert for family and guests during the fall and winter. Caution: The batter is thin, and additional flour should not be added.

Gingerbread

1 c molasses
1/2 c sugar
1/4 c melted fat
1 egg well beaten
2 1/4 c sifted flour
1 1/4 t soda
1 t ginger
1/2 t cloves
1/4 t allspice
1/2 t salt
1 c boiling water

Mix molasses, sugar, melted fat and well-beaten egg. Beat until well combined. Sift flour, measure and add soda, spices and salt. Sift into molasses mixture, stirring until flour is just dampened. Add hot water to the mixture and beat until smooth. Pour into greased muffin tins or a shallow pan and bake in a moderate oven (350 - 375 degrees), about 25 minutes for muffin tins, or 35 minutes for shallow pan.

Menu: Baked ham, scalloped potatoes, buttered carrots, fruit salad, bran muffins, butter and gingerbread with whipped cream.

Proves Lower Operating Costs

Clarence Shalter Jr., California rancher, shown (above) with three of his fleet of four LP-Gas tractors. Savings after conversion of a 1942 gasoline tractor resulted in the purchase of three additional heavy duty machines using the 100-plus octane fuel (lower right). Checking the gauge of the 750 gallon modern fuel tank on the ranch.

LLANO, CALIF.—Savings on motor maintenance and fuel after conversion of a 1942 gasoline tractor to LP-Gas convinced Clarence Shalter Jr., of the advantages of the 100-plus octane fuel.

He now operates a fleet of four tractors, a weed burner and hay baler on his alfalfa, cattle and quarter-horse ranch here.

Motor maintenance cost has been cut in half. Two barrels less oil are required per year, and, because of lower fuel cost, an additional $200 per year is saved, Shalter claims.

"But the biggest saving is the trouble-free operation," he says. "We know with pre-season maintenance, we won't have costly engine breakdowns during our busy season."

LP-Gas enters the carburetor only as a vapor to mix completely with air for perfect combustion. It burns slowly and completely causing no oil dilution or sludge to wear out the motor.

Shalter Jr., and his young son operate their 240-acre irrigated ranch with the help of only one additional hand.

Milk House Heating Is Easy... This Farmer Takes Problem in Stride

By IRA MILLER
Farm Electrification Bureau

Do you need some supplementary heat in your milk house? If not you can sympathize with those who do. For this on-the-farm story is about a farmer who has to concern himself with providing some extra warmth for his milk house chores on cold days. What's more, he does the job successfully.

Shown above is his well-insulated, 16 x 16-foot milk house. It is attached to the barn, which helps protect one side against wintry blasts. A short passageway leads into the conventional stanchion-type barn which houses an average of 40 head of cattle.

To the right is the electrical equipment used to keep the milk house comfortable enough in winter weather so that there is no temptation to rush through the important jobs of properly cleaning utensils. Two heat sources are needed—a 1,000-watt space heater (shown on top of the electric water heater), and four 250-watt heat lamps.

The space heater is used for general heating, and the lamps provide spot warmth over the washing vat. The space heater runs continuously on cold days when work is being done in the milk house, while the heat lamps are controlled by a thermostat set at 40 degrees. The combination of space heater and lamps keeps the interior warm enough for unhurried activity even when the temperature reaches an abnormal 20 degrees below zero.

NEW TV PROGRAM ON KFVS WILL BE AIMED AT FARMERS

A new television program of interest to farmers has begun on Station KFVS-TV, Channel 12, and is presented each Tuesday and Friday at 12:15 p. m.

Titled "Merle Emery Predicts," the program, sponsored by the makers of Corno livestock and poultry feeds and Corno dealers in this area, presents Merle Emery, well-known KFVS-TV personality, with his interpretations of last minute closings for farm commodities, and his prediction of the trends future markets will follow.

Emery, a veteran TV and radio man, who has received special training in the field of agricultural analysis, basis his interpretations and predictions on detailed study of statistical data, reports of government agencies and farm research experts and other sources of authoritative information. He quotes specific prices and statistics, and recommends to his listeners future courses of action to take in order to derive the greatest profits from their farm operation.

Many of the - to - the - minute charts, diagrams and other visual aids are used extensively on the program to dramatize figures and trends discussed by Emery.

The program is designed to help farmers in this area by providing them with practical conclusions drawn from masses of accurate information brought together and expertly analyzed.

Dead, Not Alive
Hitchhiking from Santa Fe to Albuquerque, N. M., in the late afternoon, I was finally picked up by a man in a big convertible. There was little traffic and we sped along without much talk. Suddenly the driver threw on his brakes, stopped and then backed up for about 100 yards. Unlocking the glove compartment, he pulled out a revolver. As I froze in my seat too scared to yank open the door and get away, he took aim out of his window and shot twice. As he put the gun away he said, "Son, never leave a rattler in the road—alive."

SOUTH FULTON SCHOOL NEWS by Martha Weeks

Howdy, let's stop and chat awhile. I'm just bursting with news this week.

The football squad and loyal supporters journeyed to Newbern last Thursday night to compete with the Newbern team. The final score was 24-0. Funny thing, our team always manages to score but never more than the other team. Oh well! maybe, just maybe we'll win a football game.

There was no school last Friday. The teachers attended a teachers meeting in Memphis. Taking advantage of the extra day week-end, Bonnie Weeks and I went to Murray. Stopping in Mayfield between buses we did a little shopping. Other shoppers there from South Fulton were Gayle Harp and her mother and David Speight and his mother.

Nancy Crews and her parents flew to Fort Worth, Texas, last Friday morning. They made the trip in their own plane.

Guynelle Payne went to Memphis last Sunday to visit relatives.

Farm Fire Hazards Can Be Reduced

Every 24 hours, fire strikes 100 farm families, leaving nine persons dead and destroying more than $300,000 worth of property.

The National Board of Fire Underwriters and other agencies annually publish a list of suggestions during Fire Prevention Week (this year, October 9 to October 15) designed to help eliminate fire hazards.

One of the foremost of these is a warning to keep the problem of fire safety in mind when new construction is being planned.

To reduce the menace of property loss by fire, many farmers are turning to steel buildings, such as the five Quonsets shown in the above photograph. The Quonsets recently replaced those on the farm of O. W. Bridgeman of Plain City, O., whose 340 acre farm had been raised by fire, destroying all buildings except the house and a shed.

Property loss figures reflect only a portion of the total cost of farm fires, however, as Bridgeman would readily testify. Thousands of tons of vitally needed food and meat are wasted, irreplaceable natural resources are destroyed and often people perish.

Bridgeman was pleased with the speed with which his farm was back in operation. Four days after the fire, he told the area Quonset dealer, Paul V. Reed, to build five Quonsets on his farm. Only 45 days after concrete was poured for the floor, the Quonsets were up and Bridgeman was back in business.

Bridgeman is happy with the buildings. He says, "My Quonset farmstead gives me much greater fire safety, and that's mighty important to me after losing so much in one fire."

Just as he neared the catwalk, he slipped again. This time there was no rope and he fell, screaming toward the earth, into a taut piece of tarpauling which ground workers had improvised as a safety net. A hospital said his injuries were minor.

programs Mr. Yates said. This program will provide cost-sharing to farmers for carrying out needed conservation measures in 1956.

The facts established at this meeting will be on the basis for formulating the county program in 1956 Mr. Yates said that points included on the agenda for discussion are: (1) most needed conservation measures in the county, such as pasture development, drainage measures, stockwater development; (2) present programs designed to aid in conservation that are now carried by each agency; (3) what aids are now available to farmers such as educational facilities, technical services, credit and Federal cost-sharing under ACP.

Materials and services now available for use under the ACP will also be inventoried. These include lime, fertilizers, seeds, forestry seedlings, earth-moving equipment, and soil testing facilities.

The program for 1956 will be announced, Mr. Yates said, the latter part of November. Farmers may then make their requests known for cost-sharing under the new program.

Mastitis Can Be Mastered

Daily use of a strip cup helps this farmer keep his cows free of mastitis. The texture of the milk sample drawn from each cow can warn him of the presence of the disease, and to take precautionary measures. If the farmer discovers symptoms of mastitis, he can cut infection short by treating the animal with a preparation such as Targol, a mastitis ointment made from a combination of several antibiotics. Dairy husbandry authorities advise regular use of a strip cup as a means of reducing the incidence of mastitis which, the U. S. Department of Agriculture reports, costs the nation's farmers the staggering sum of $225,000,000 annually.

FHA REPAIR LOAN PROVISIONS ARE MADE UP-TO-DATE

FHA's Title I home modernization and repair, under searching investigation a year ago, has itself been modernized and repaired.

This is the judgement of the National Better Business Bureau, Inc., New York City, reflected in a letter dated July 19, 1955 by FHA Commissioner Norman Mason, and Commissioner R. S. Spence, Director of the Title I program.

They quoted Allan E. Backman, Executive Vice President of the National Better Business Bureau, as saying there has been a marked nationwide decrease in irregularities in the FHA home improvement program during the past year.
